

Transmittal of Legislation Act, which would permit the Chairman of the Council of the District of Columbia to transmit legislation to Congress in the form of the Chairman's choosing, including in electronic form. This bill would modernize the method D.C. legislation is transmitted to Congress. I introduced a similar version of this bill earlier this year.

The D.C. Home Rule Act (HRA) requires the Chairman to transmit legislation to Congress for a review period before the legislation may take effect. The legislation takes effect after a review period, unless a resolution of disapproval is enacted into law during the review period. While the HRA is silent on the method of transmittal, House and Senate precedent require that the legislation be physically transmitted to Congress. Physical transmittal imposes costs in terms of time on the Council, the House and Senate Parliamentarians, the Speaker, the President of the Senate, the House clerk, the Senate Secretary, the House Committee on Oversight and Reform and the Senate Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs.

The Council engages in a 12-step process to comply with the physical transmittal requirement:

Step 1: Write individualized cover letters.

Step 2: The Chairman physically signs the cover letters.

Step 3: Arrange a time to get the cover letters from the Chairman.

Step 4: Print two copies of the bill and two copies of the committee report to deliver to the Speaker and to the President of the Senate.

Step 5: Arrange a time for delivery to the Speaker's office.

Step 6: Arrange a time for delivery to the President of the Senate's office.

Step 7: Arrange for two D.C. employees to drive to the Capitol. (Two staffers are required because parking restrictions require a driver and a delivery person.)

Step 8: Drive to the Capitol.

Step 9: Deliver the documents to the Speaker's office and get a signed receipt.

Step 10: Deliver the documents to the President of the Senate's office and get a signed receipt.

Step 11: Assign the congressional review period based on the receipts.

Step 12: File the receipts.

The aftermath of the January 6, 2021 attack on the Capitol highlighted the burdens of physical transmittal. After temporary fencing was installed around the Capitol, D.C. employees could not enter the Capitol, delaying transmittal until D.C. employees and congressional staff developed a workaround. D.C. employees and congressional staff met outside the fencing so the D.C. employees could physically transmit the legislation.

Today, when we live in the era of e-mail, there is no reason to continue to require an increasingly ancient process, when these documents could be transmitted electronically instead, saving a tremendous amount of time and effort.

I urge my colleagues to support this commonsense bill.

CONGRATULATING THE CRYSTAL RESTAURANT ON ITS DESIGNATION AS A HISTORIC BUSINESS

HON. ELISE M. STEFANIK

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, June 3, 2022

Ms. STEFANIK. Madam Speaker, I rise today to congratulate The Crystal Restaurant in Watertown on its rich history and its special designation as a historic business. The Crystal has been named to the New York State Historic Preservation Registry as they have been operating for over fifty years and contribute tremendously to the Watertown community.

The Crystal Restaurant is Watertown's oldest restaurant, opening in 1925 under the ownership of brothers Dennis and Jerry Valanos. In 1928, The Crystal hired Otto Dephtereos as chef. Fifteen years later, Otto and his brother Nicholas, took over and purchased The Crystal. After Otto's son, Joseph, a radio gunner on a B-24 bomber during World War II, returned from England, he and his brother, Leo, took over The Crystal. Today, Peter Dephtereos, along with his wife and brother, manage the restaurant and maintain the beloved traditions of The Crystal.

For many decades, the Dephtereos family has stewarded the oldest restaurant in Watertown and preserved timeless traditions, like the "Tom and Jerry" cocktail. The Crystal remains a thriving tribute to the history of Watertown. It is home to one of the last stand-up bars in the country and even boasts a cash register that rang up President Franklin Roosevelt's bill in the 1930s. Few things have changed at the restaurant, and The Crystal prides itself on being a fixture in Watertown's history.

The Crystal is an incredible North Country establishment and has been an important asset to the Watertown community for over nine decades. On behalf of New York's 21st District, I am proud to celebrate the rich history of The Crystal Restaurant and congratulate it on its designation as a historic business on the New York State Historic Preservation Registry.
